

Community Group Discussion Questions:

1. Read Ephesians 6:5-9. Start by sharing with the group your current work situation. For this phase of life, a professor or a coach can be considered as a "boss."
2. What does it look like to obey your earthly boss right now...with fear and trembling...with sincerity of heart?
3. What are some practical ways to remind ourselves of our true audience in heaven during the work day? How do we avoid being "men-pleasers" at work?
4. When you are given positions of oversight, management, or leadership, have you been tempted toward anger and threats?
5. As a Christian employee, how can you respond to an angry bosses' threats?
6. In the end, who are both bosses and workers accountable to? What could a workplace look like where everyone was equally submitted to God's authority in their life?
